DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 9, 11, 14, 18-20 and 23 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 1/17/06.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 12, 13 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claim 12 recites a cannula inserted into an abdominal cavity. Applicant is reminded that the human body is non-statutory subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 recites the limitation "the comparison" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 7, 8, 10, 26 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Edwards et al. (US 2003/0153905). In paragraph [268], Edwards et al. disclose a method for treating obesity that comprises ablating tissue on an exterior surface of a stomach of a patient with an ablation probe sized to fit the stomach.

Claims 12, 15, 16, 17, 21, 24, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chin et al. (US 6802840). Chin et al. disclose an ablation system comprising a cannula (42), an ablation probe (22) and an ablation source to control delivery of ablation energy to ablate tissue from the exterior surface of the stomach (col. 26 lines 9-21).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Edwards et al. '905 further in view of Chen et al. (US 6826428). Edwards et al. teach all of the limitations of the claim except determining whether ablation has slowed a peristaltic wave. Chen et al. disclose a method of treating obesity that includes measuring the myoelectric activity of the stomach as feedback to determine if the treatment is effective. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to determine whether the ablation has slowed a peristaltic wave during the method taught by Edwards to determine if the treatment is effective as disclosed by Chen et al.

Claims 13 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chin et al. '840 further in view of Chen et al. (US 6826428). Chin et al. teach all of the limitations of the claim except a sensor to monitor digestion rate. Chen et al. disclose a method of treating obesity that includes measuring the myoelectric activity of the stomach as feedback to determine if the treatment is effective. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to determine whether the ablation has slowed a peristaltic wave during the method taught by Chin et al. to determine if the treatment is effective as disclosed by Chen et al.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
